New York Cotton Letter.

Today's cotton market was very irregular and unsettled and was subjected to frequent aggressive attacks by the local and southern bears, who sold the whole lot recklessly at times. There was no bull leader in either market left around whom the few remaining bulls could rally into confidence and make a stand against these raids, and as a consequence every time the market worked up a little from the low point, it was only to fall back.

GASOLINE STOVE CAUSES FIRE.

W. E. Miller loses $800 worth of furniture with no insurance.
A gasoline stove at the residence of W. E. Miller was the cause of a conflagration which practically destroyed all the household goods and damaged the building to a great extent. The alarm was turned in at about 10:20 o'clock this morning and the department made the run to C street southeast, a distance of more than a mile. The fire had gained great headway when they reached there and some trouble was met with in extinguishing it. At 11:45 P. M. the work the flames were extinguished. The fire had been confined to the kitchen and dining room, and completely destroyed these two rooms, also damaging the roof of the building. The building was the property of L. C. Lesure and was insured by the Lesure Co. Mr. Miller had about $800 worth of household goods which were destroyed or damaged. He carried no insurance.

LOST—A buggy cushion. Finder return to 220 East Main street and get reward.

again, later to a still lower level.

Little or no attention seemed to be paid to the fact that killing frost occurred throughout sections of South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, and further heavy frosts also occurred in the Mississippi valley over Sunday.

The only thing considered was bear news and views, and about ninety per cent of the generality of opinions now are bears, whereas everybody was bullish at the top a fortnight ago.

Nothing has occurred to warrant this except the census bureau's ginners' report, which was only 200,000 bales above the most conservative expectations and the publication of Boston's crop estimate of 13,000,000 bales which was made chiefly in the interest of English spinners and the bear element.

The declining tendency of the market has simply given color to these two features and grossly exaggerated them in the eyes of the speculative contingent. The tendency now is to overrule the market on this depression but the same as it was to overbuy in bulling the market too much during the recent bullish excitement and it will not be long before the market will be in a heavily over sold condition again as well as completely sold out.

BULLET WOUND IN GROIN.

The Shooting Was Probably the Result of An Accident.

Joe Haas, the German who was shot at a late hour Saturday night, is at the Ardmore Sanitarium and is resting well. The wound which is located in the groin, is a very serious one, although his physicians are of the opinion that he will recover. Haas is accustomed to drinking some and is past middle life and these two facts are against his recovery. Haas came here about a year and a half ago from Fort Worth.

Hon. Franklin Speaks.

Lebanon, I. T., Oct. 28.—Hon. Wm. M. Franklin of Madill spoke here last night. His speech was eloquent and effective and has done much to hold the Democrats together. The socialists are stronger than the Republicans and it is universally conceded that Mr. Franklin fully and fairly answered their arguments.

Local Cotton Market.

The local cotton market is still slow, a lower price than formerly prevails. The price today opened at 9.75, and remained that for some time, dropping later to 9.25 cents per pound. The market was dull today and a small amount of cotton was sold here. The low price which is being paid is considered as the cause of the slow market.

That special sale at Hotchkiss is on for three days only. 28-2
